

2022 International Congress of Mathematicians

St. Petersburg, Russia

The upcoming International Congress of Mathematicians, to be held 6-14 July 2022, in St. Petersburg, Russia, will spotlight recent progress in many areas of mathematics.

Travel Grants

The NSF Division of Mathematical Sciences (DMS) and the Simons Foundation have partnered with the American Mathematical Society (AMS) to provide travel-grant support to enable mathematicians from the US to participate in the ICM. Applications will be accepted August 25 – December 1, 2021, and the AMS anticipates it will make award announcements in February 2022.

Spotlight on the Speakers

The NSF is pleased to support the research of ten of the ICM plenary speakers:

Mladen Bestvina	University of Utah
Bhargav Bhatt	University of Michigan - Ann Arbor
Frank Calegari	University of Chicago
Tobias Colding	Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Svetlana Jitomirskaya	University of California - Irvine
Camillo De Lellis	Institute for Advanced Study
Frans Pretorius	Princeton University
Scott Sheffield	Massachusetts Institute of Technology
Kannan Soundararajan	Stanford University
Umesh Vazirani	University of California - Berkeley

